SUMMARY

UX research and enterprise product leader with 15 years across user research, product strategy, enterprise UX, and cross-functional delivery. I built a UX research discipline across a 20+ product suite, scaled product design from 2 to 30 people, and translated interviews, evaluative testing, analytics, and stakeholder signals into prioritized product decisions. My strongest fit for Etsy is independently shaping research across complex workflows while helping product, design, and engineering act on buyer and seller insight.
