Dear Avalere Health hiring team,

I am applying for the Account Director role. I spent eight years managing pharmaceutical agency accounts, including consumer work for Actavis, Teva, Pfizer, and Jazz Pharmaceuticals. My work covered client relationships, brand planning, digital and multichannel campaigns, scopes, budgets, and regulated review. I have since led design teams and built AI tools for pharma agencies. I would bring that broader delivery experience back to client services.

At FCB Health, I was one of two consumer account leads on the agency's largest pharmaceutical business. I managed the $20M Namenda XR direct-to-consumer launch and led the broadcast workstream for three national commercials in one year, from market research and med-legal review through FDA preclearance and production. The spots drove a 45% increase in new-to-brand consumers within seven weeks. On the $10M NUVIGIL business, I owned weekly client status and financial reporting, OPDP submissions, and annual strategic recommendations.

I later led Jazz Pharmaceuticals' XYREM consumer work at Scout Marketing, including the brand's first unbranded social campaign. Since moving into product and UX, I have grown a distributed design team from 2 to 30 and built pharma tools for claim review, brief intake, scoping, and MLR preparation. That experience has made me more useful in conversations about how teams deliver the work behind a brand plan.

I would welcome a conversation about your client services team and the Account Director role.

Sincerely,

Wally Mostafa
