Re: Associate Client Manager at NielsenIQ

Dear NIQ hiring team,

I am applying for the Associate Client Manager role because it brings together client work I know well. I have spent years building trust with complex accounts and helping teams act on what the data says. I am looking to make a return to account management, and my recent work in enterprise analytics and research has made me a stronger client partner.

For more than seven years, I managed Fortune 500 pharma and healthcare clients with $2M-$50M+ budgets. As one of two consumer account leads on FCB Health's largest pharma account, I worked across brand planning, integrated campaigns, and MLR review. I translated client priorities into briefs, feedback, production requirements, timelines, and review-ready deliverables across account, strategy, creative, UX, and development teams. That meant staying close to stakeholders, getting to the real issue behind a request, and keeping work moving when priorities shifted.

At Kinesso, I led work on enterprise marketing analytics used by more than 7,000 people across 22 white-label brands. I built the Digital Experience Audit workflow, turning channel scoring and benchmarks into visualizations and presentation-ready recommendations. That work sharpened how I synthesize complex information and explain what it means for a client's next decision.

My experience is in healthcare accounts and enterprise marketing analytics rather than CPG consumer measurement. I would be learning NIQ's proprietary platforms and consumer-measurement practice on the job, and I am comfortable being direct about that learning curve. What I bring on day one is the client work. I ask precise questions to find the business issue behind a request, then turn the analysis into a story the internal team can act on.

NIQ needs an Associate Client Manager who can earn trust and make complex information useful. I would welcome the chance to discuss how my account leadership and analytics background could help your customers make better business decisions.

Sincerely,

Wally Mostafa
